

ANIMAL REPORT

You have been appointed to a television company, as a wildlife presenter. You will have your very own programme, entitled 'Animal Report'. Your job is to take your team of cameramen, lighting and sound engineers, etc., somewhere in the country to present a programme about badgers.

Before you go, you will need to know enough about badgers to enable you to stand in front of a camera and tell millions of people all about it. (Go to our website.)

You should include sections about the following subjects:

1. The animal's name.
2. Anatomy/Appearance
3. Locomotion (How does it move?)
4. Diet
5. Habitat and range
6. Adaptations
7. Life cycles and reproduction
8. Behaviour
9. Defence/Attack
10. Enemies
11. Species survival status (Is it endangered?)
12. Something special
13. Classification (Which group of animals does it belong to?)

Go on! Have a go! We'd be really delighted to read your report. Send it to us via the website.
